

World War 1

The Western Front
(Belgium, France)

The Western Front

- During WWI most of the fighting took place along lines with soldiers of the alliance countries on one side and the Entente countries on the other
- These were called FRONTS
- There were two major fronts in Europe and some in other parts of the world
- The main front that NL's were fighting in was the WESTERN FRONT

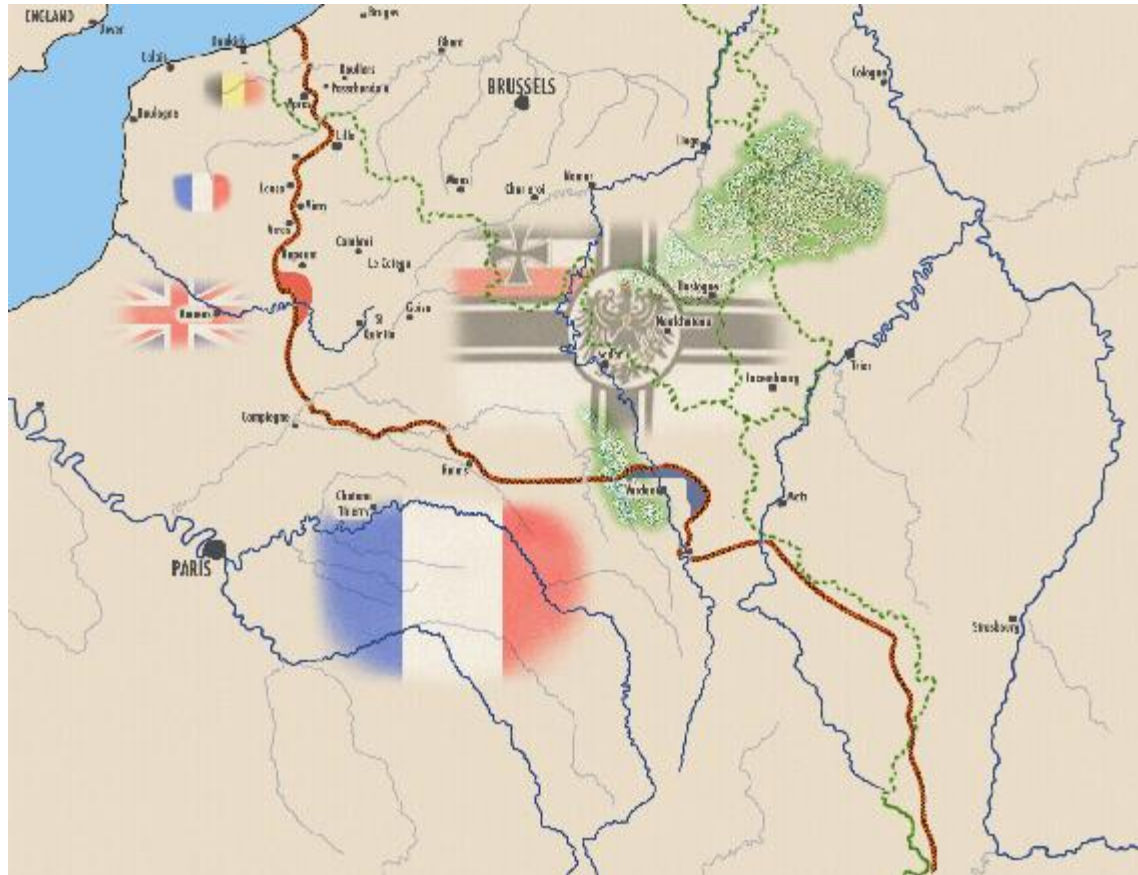

The Western Front

- Britain and its Empire (including NL) lost almost a million men during WWI
- Most of them died on the Western Front
- It stretched 440 miles from the border of Switzerland to the North Sea
- It consisted of a line of trenches, dug-outs, and barbed wire fences that moved very little despite attempts by both sides to break through
